

Data Protection Policy

Statement of purpose

IQ Ltd is registered on the Data Protection register as a statutory requirement for organisations that hold personal data. Registration was first completed on 2nd December 2010, the registration period is 12 months and therefore renewal is due on 1st December 2011 and annually from then on.
Registration number is Z2468559

Scope

This policy applies to all staff, employees, part time employees and learners. IQ will ensure that it informs everyone about data protection issues and their rights to access their own personal data. IQ holds personal data and will ensure compliance with the Data Protection Act 1998.

Data Protection Act

The Data Protection Act 1998 and subsequent updates protects employees against the misuse of personal data, and covers both manual and electronic records.

The Act requires that any personal data held should be:

- processed fairly and lawfully;
- obtained and processed only for specified and lawful purposes;
- adequate, relevant and not excessive;
- accurate and kept up to date;
- held securely and for no longer than is necessary; and
- Not transferred to a country outside the European Economic Area unless there is an adequate level of data protection in that country.

If employees access another employee's or learner's records without authority this will be treated as gross misconduct and is a criminal offence under the Data Protection Act 1998, section 55.

Purposes for which personal data may be held

Personal data relating to employees may be collected primarily for the purposes of:

- recruitment, promotion, training, redeployment, and/or career development;
- administration and payment of wages and sick pay;
- calculation of certain benefits including pensions;
- disciplinary or performance management purposes;
- performance review;
- recording of communication with employees/students and their representatives;
- compliance with legislation;
- provision of references to financial institutions, to facilitate entry onto educational courses and/or to assist future potential employers; and
- Staff, volunteers and students, staffing levels and career planning.

IQ considers that the following personal data falls within the categories set out above:

- Personal details including name, address, age, status and qualifications. Where specific monitoring systems are in place, ethnic origin and nationality will also be deemed as relevant;
- references and CVs;
- emergency contact details;
- notes on discussions between management and the employee/student;
- appraisals and documents relating to grievance, discipline, promotion, demotion, or termination of employment;
- training records;
- salary, benefits and bank/building society details; and
- Absence and sickness information.

Employees, potential employees, volunteers and students will be advised of the personal data which has been obtained or retained, its source, and the purposes for which the personal data may be used or to whom it will be disclosed.

IQ will review the nature of the information being collected and held on an annual basis to ensure there is a sound business reason for requiring the information to be retained.

Sensitive personal data

Sensitive personal data includes information relating to the following matters:

- the employee's/student's racial or ethnic origin;
- his or her political opinions;
- his or her religious or similar beliefs;
- his or her trade union membership;
- his or her physical or mental health or condition;
- his or her sexual orientation; or
- The commission or alleged commission of any offence by the employee/student.

Responsibility for the processing of personal data

IQ's Data Controller is the Chief Executive who is responsible for ensuring all personal data is controlled in compliance with the Data Protection Act 1998.

Employees, volunteers and students who have access to personal data must comply with this Policy and adhere to the procedures laid down by the Data Controller. Failure to comply with the Policy and procedures may result in disciplinary action up to and including summary dismissal.

Use of personal data

To ensure compliance with the Data Protection Act 1998 and in the interests of privacy, employee/student confidence and good employee/student relations, the disclosure and use of information held by IQ is governed by the following conditions:

- personal data must only be used for one or more of the purposes specified in this Policy;
- Documents may only be used in accordance with the statement within each document stating its intended use; and
- provided that the identification of the individual employees/students is not disclosed, aggregate or statistical information may be used to respond to any legitimate internal or external requests for data (e.g., surveys, staff, volunteers and students, staffing level figures); and
- Personal data must not be disclosed, either within or outside IQ, to any unauthorised recipient.

Personal data held for equal opportunities monitoring purposes

Where personal data obtained about candidates is to be held for the purpose of Equal Opportunities monitoring, all such data must be made anonymous.

Disclosure of personal data

Personal data may only be disclosed outside IQ with the employee's/student's written consent, where disclosure is required by law or where there is immediate danger to the employee's/student's health.

Accuracy of personal data

IQ will review personal data regularly to ensure that it is accurate, relevant and up to date.

In order to ensure that our files are accurate and up to date, and so that IQ is able to contact the employee/student or, in the case of an emergency, another designated person, employees/students must notify their line manager or the Chief Executive as soon as possible of any change in their personal details (e.g., change of name, address; telephone number; loss of driving license where relevant; next of kin details, etc).

Access to personal data (“Subject Access Requests”)

Employees/Students have the right to access personal data held about them. The Company will arrange for the employee/student to see or hear all personal data held about them within 21 days of receipt of a written request.

Retention of records.

IQ follows the retention periods recommended by the Information Commissioner in its Employment Practices Data Protection Code.

These are as follows, in the absence of a specific business case supporting a longer period.

| Document | Retention period |
|---|--|
| Application form | Duration of employment |
| References received | 1 year |
| Payroll and tax information | 6 years |
| Sickness records | 3 years |
| Annual leave records | 2 years |
| Unpaid leave/special leave records | 3 years |
| Annual appraisal/assessment records | 5 years |
| Records relating to promotion, transfer, training, disciplinary matters | 1 year from end of employment |
| References given/information to enable references to be provided | 5 years from reference/end of employment |
| Summary of record of service, eg name, position held, dates of employment | 10 years from end of employment |
| Records relating to accident or injury at work | 12 years |

Learners data

Employees of IQ may access information about learners for the following purposes:

- to maintain records
- to help improve our service to learners
- to send out information to learners about new products or other information that may be of interest to you
- sharing learner data to statutory bodies where applicable.

IQ will not otherwise provide any of learner’s personal information to other companies or individuals without the learners permission.

Any data protection queries should be addressed to the IQ Data Protection Officer.

Signed:
Chief Executive

Date: